VINTAGE NOTES

2016 continued the extremely good run of vintages in the world renowned Margaret River Wine Region. A dry, warm January was punctuated with a late rainfall pattern that reinvigorated canopies throughout the vineyards. Picking commenced in mid-February, almost two weeks later than the previous vintage. The wines exhibit the fresh acidity and trademark fruit purity that is a hallmark of the region.

This wine was sourced from vineyards in Margaret River, with a large component coming from the Yallingup Hills, close to Deep Woods Estate. The fruit parcels were crushed separately and quickly removed from their skins to limit colour and phenolic pick up. The distinctive Rosé tinted juice was then fermented in tank using an aromatic yeast strain aimed at enhancing its fresh, vibrant fruit character.

WINEMAKER'S COMMENTS

Dry Rosé is a great wine style – one that we put a lot of work into at Deep Woods Estate. This wine continues a run of excellent vintages, combining great freshness and lightness in a wine that is still complex and satisfying.
